Don has been a woodworker for 35 years and has made everything from fine furniture and cabinetry to rock and roll guitars. His web site is: www.donaldderry.com

This six-hour demonstration consists of a broad group of techniques exhibited with wit, humor and philosophy. The day may begin with a demonstration of how to turn a very delicate and extremely lightweight traditional style ornament and tools so big that it will surprise even the most seasoned turner. Or he may chuck up a piece of firewood and turn it into a thin wall hollow form masterpiece. Don has a broad-minded approach to the craft of woodturning and feels that no single turner's ideas or turning technique are correct for everybody. He proves this by showing and explaining how, he discovered, that by using objective self observation, and asking oneself the proper questions a person may be lead to answers and techniques that are often contrary to establish tradition. Don will relate how turning 2000 small hollow ornaments developed into the gigantic artistic hollow forms that he is the building a worldwide reputation upon. He will demonstrate the state-of-the-art torque arresting hollowing tools he has developed and show that they are so easy to use that anyone can quickly learn the techniques and become a master hollow form turner. Don will also exhibit a way to prepare a shear scraper that is so sharp you may never need sand paper again. Throughout the day, between flying wood chips and entertaining banter Don will be expressing his unique point view on the art world and what is needed for the craft of wood turning to blend seamlessly within it and why this is absolutely necessary for the health and longevity of our craft.
